

The Right Partner for Higher Education Executive Search

AGB Search has conducted more than 750 successful client engagements ranging from small private colleges to large public institutions. We leverage our expertise and relationships in the industry to find the best candidates for every position.

In fact, more than 90 percent of our candidates stay in their positions for at least five years. We take great care to understand each institution's vision for their new leader and create a search plan to identify the best candidates for the position. We conduct comprehensive presearch meetings and research, extensive outreach to our networks to identify top candidates, and deep vetting of the candidate pool. Our team also provides needed support during the interview process, as well as through negotiations and appointment of the new leader.

Focused on Leadership Transition Success

The role of president is the most critical position at a college or university, and successful transition is integral to the long-term success of the team and the institution. AGB Search offers transition assistance to facilitate positive outcomes for the newly appointed president, providing guidance on:

- Preparing the new leader to assume office
- Coordinating the introduction to the campus, key donors, and legislative and community leaders
- Assisting with housing, moving, and family acclimation
- Transitioning the outgoing president in a meaningful and respectful manner

"AGB Search not only helped us to find the right new leader for our university, they helped set the stage for the kind of teamwork and partnership that are certain to help him succeed."
